SECRETARIES OF CONFERENCES AND MISSIONS

The following list of Secretaries, with their post office addresses, is published herewith as an aid to the Bishops and Conference Secretaries in making the transfers of preachers, especially during the time of the Conference sessions. Often they are hindered, if it should be the Fall Conference that is being held, in making the transfer to a Spring Conference, by not knowing to whom to send the certificate of transfer. It is hoped this may be of advantage both to the Bishop and the Secretary.

This list is correct according to the latest information.—Editor.

DEATH ROLL

From the earliest GENERAL MINUTES up to the Fall issue of 1901, it was a custom to publish brief memoirs of the preachers who had died during the year. Why the custom ceased the Editor does not know, only that with the growth of the church each year was adding to the size of the Minutes, and thus to the expense of publication. Frequently during the present administration memoirs have been sent in, but could not be used. There have been frequent calls for them and questions as to why they were not used.

With the consent of the Publishing Agents, the Editor is attempting a one-line memoir for each preacher. He has sent a letter to each Conference Secretary and a second one to those who have not responded to the first one. The following table shows the responses:

BISHOP ALEXANDER PRIESTLY CAMPHOR, D.D., LL.D.

His story upward is most thrilling. He was born in Jefferson Parish, Louisiana, August 9, 1865. His mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Camphor Washington, survives him, his father having passed to reward some years ago. He was first a student in Leland University in 1879. He entered New Orleans University in 1880, graduating with high honors in 1889. He kept himself in school during the early days by selling figs and thus he paid his tuition and bought his books. He put himself through college and the Theological Seminary by teaching school in Louisiana and in Georgia. He graduated from Gammon Theological Seminary in 1896 and while he was pastor in Orange, New Jersey, he matriculated at Columbia University and Union Theological Seminary, taking special courses in education, comparative religions, psychology, French, and anthropology. He spent three summers as a resident student in the University of Chicago and at the time of his death he was doing research work for his thesis for the degree of Doctor of Philosophy, a rather interesting fact, that in spite of the honors that the church had heaped upon him, Alexander Priestly Camphor pursued the even tenor of his way and sought to fit himself all the more for the great task which the church had given him.

After a varied and useful service both in this country, in Africa, and again in America, he was elected in 1916, as a Bishop for Africa. He went with a thorough consecration to his work and rendered a most excellent account of himself. He came home to take part in the work of the Centenary, and while here died, December 10, 1919. He was one of the best of his race.

DR. JAMES M. BUCKLEY

James M. Buckley, who edited The Christian Advocate from 1880 to 1912, and who was recognized as the ablest parliamentarian in the General Conferences of the Methodist Episcopal Church, has died in his 84th year. In his prime he was in many respects the most powerful personality in American Methodism, and one of the outstanding figures in religious journalism.

Not for him what has since come to be called "snippet" journalism. When he wrote on a subject he first amassed all available data; then he analyzed it with an acute mind, and then he commented upon it with pungency, brilliancy, and a tone of infallibility. As a polemicist, whether in debate on the floor of a deliberative assembly or in the columns of his own or of other journals, he was a dangerous man to meet, partly because of an unusually tenacious memory, partly because of the agility of his mental operations, and partly because of his old-fashioned training in logic.

Among journalists, whether secular or religious, he always commanded respect because of his loyalty to his vocation. Genuine admirers and secret foes often dangled before him the office of Bishop. But he preferred to make other men Bishops, and remain an Editor. He thus kept the substance of power as a molder of the life of Methodism on its ecclesiastical and polity side, without suffering any of the inconveniences or frictions of the episcopacy.

In the era when Merrill was the constitutional lawyer of the denomination, Foster the theologian, Hurst the scholar, Fowler the classic orator, and Vincent the pioneer in popular education, Dr. Buckley more than maintained his own as a great journalistic expositor and forensic debater; and no one of equal caliber now looms large on the horizon.—WASHINGTON HERALD.

DR. FREEMAN D. BOVARD

I first met Dr. Bovard at the California Conference which was held at old Powell Street in 1875—the year that the Southern California Conference was organized. Freeman Bovard was received on trial then, and took work in Southern California, where for ten years he served the pastorate and as vice-president of the Southern California University, of which his brother Marion of precious memory was president.

There was always a bond between us because we were from Indiana, where I knew the Bovard family which gave such an illustrious array of men to our ministry.

In 1880 Dr. Bovard was transferred to this Conference, where he spent eight years in the pastorate and six years as Presiding Elder of the San Francisco District. Dr. Bovard was a great pastor. "How beautiful to see, Once more a shepherd of mankind indeed. One whose meek flock the people loved to be." When I announced his death yesterday in our church here in Alameda, where he was pastor twenty-two years ago, the grief of the people showed what a hold he had upon their hearts.

He was a great Editor; he had the balance and poise, the judicial temper, the grasp of current events and vital issues, and the clear and trenchant insight that made him a power in the field of religious journalism. He was a fine administrator. His six years on the San Francisco District in the prime and vigor of his young manhood were notable and memorable. To him more than to any other man we are indebted for the freedom of our churches from taxation, for he led the Christian forces of the State for that reform; and his work in the office of the Home Missions Board is a fitting crowning of his career. Although he spent his life on this frontier field, he received more votes for the Episcopacy in the General Conference than were ever given to any Pacific Coast pioneer.

In his private life Dr. Bovard was all that a Christian gentleman ought to be. His unfailing urbanity and courtesy, his hearty brotherliness, I never saw disturbed by any test or trial.

"So prone was he to find
Some good in all mankind,
So quick to stop and heed
The cry of those in need,
That Heaven with love abrim
Does not seem strange to him."

—The Rev. E. R. Dille, D.D., in California Christian Advocate.

DR. EUSTACHE C. E. DORION

Dr. Eustache Charles Edouard Dorion was not what we term an Official Editor—one chosen by the General Conference—but he was chosen of God by his fine qualities of mind and heart and capable of being Editor of any of our great papers. His field was the Editorship of Zion's Herald of Boston. At the age of forty-seven he was cut down. It will be a long time before his superior will be found, and a wide search will be necessary to find his equal.

We quote from The Christian Advocate editorial of February 3, 1920:

"The outstanding characteristic of Dr. Dorion was his prodigious capacity for work. While still a young man he was the mainstay of his widowed mother and five sisters, and met those obligations with absolute devotion. Merely as a fecund producer of good 'copy'—editorial, news, personals, book reviews—his equal has probably not been known among us since the early days of James M. Buckley's career. There were issues of Zion's Herald in which the larger part of the contents was from his individual pen. Moreover, he had studiously acquired a vast store of information about denominational affairs, past and present, and about leading Methodists, which gave a breadth of interest to his paper scarcely to be expected of a publication whose first responsibility is to a local section. But boundless industry and copious and accurate information, valuable as they are in journalism, are not enough to account for Dr. Dorion's distinction. His chief once called him 'a born editor,' and perhaps that phrase classifies him. At least he had that intense love of gathering and imparting news that is the very breath of the nostrils to a newspaper man. He had the intuition to perceive the tastes of his readers and to present such subjects and in such relations, such phrasing and makeup as would make the happiest and strongest appeal. And he could indulge at need in such joys of controversy as are still permitted to the religious press."

He is gone, but his works do follow him.

DR. WILBUR F. SHERIDAN

We stop to record the passing on of Dr. Wilbur Fletcher Sheridan, who was born at Rossville, Ind., December 6, 1863, and died at Winnetka, Ill., March 10, 1920. Dr. Sheridan was a son of the parsonage, and made good in every position he was called to occupy. Many looked for him to be selected as a Bishop at the General Conference of 1916, and he had reached 144 votes on the seventh ballot. Failing in this, he was reelected with great unanimity to the secretaryship of the Epworth League, where he had done splendid work for the preceding twenty-five years. His health soon began to fail and a paralytic condition came on that took possession of every fiber of his being, except his brain and heart.

Bishop Cranston has written of him, and we can do no better than to take part of what he has to say as a memoir for this place. "Through two seasons at Epworth by the great lake I saw the outward man perishing while the inward man was shining forth with a radiance that only grew more wonderful as helplessness crept stealthily downward through the body and limbs that had been such a marvel of activity and endurance. With brain clear and busy to the last, eyes beaming, hearing perfect, laughter and mirth contagious, cheerfulness constant, courage unflinching, soul alive to God and all interests of church life or state, he grew daily in all that pertains to life intellectual and spiritual, a remarkable demonstration of how a soul can keep open house, entertaining God and man, even when its old body responds no more to calls for service. One by one the wires of the call-bell gave way, but he never lost heart, never complained of new deprivations. He simply adjusted his soul to the fresh calamity and smiled on undismayed, as if borne along by the tremendous momentum of his intensely active years of service. The fire in his soul never went out, because God was the fire, and God never left him."

Thus has passed on another of the great souls who have demonstrated the power of the Christian religion.

NOTE.—The last figures received from the Russia Mission were in 1913. Dr. Simons has stood by until the Fall of 1918 and pushed the work and seen it grow amid all the horrors of the war. The figures given here are from the memory of Dr. Simons, having no data at hand. They are approximately correct according to his knowledge.—EDITOR.
